

International Ocean Institute - Canada
18th Elisabeth Mann Borgese Ocean Lecture

SMALL-SCALE FISHERIES: FOOD SECURITY, SOCIAL JUSTICE AND BIODIVERSITY

Friday 25th October: 7.00-8.30 p.m. with reception to follow

Editrudith Lukanga, Founder & Executive Director, Environmental Management and Economic Development Organization

Evan Andrews, Postdoctoral Fellow, Ocean Frontier Institute

Anthony Charles, Director, School of the Environment, Saint Mary's University

With moderator Ratana Chuenpagdee, Director, TBTI Global

2024 marks the 10th anniversary of the Voluntary Guidelines for Securing Sustainable Small-Scale Fisheries, a global instrument adopted by FAO Member States, with ongoing implementation around the world. The panelists will share their experience and perspective on the instrument, addressing key issues in different small-scale fisheries in Canada and internationally.

Room 1020, Rowe Building, Dalhousie University, 6100 University Avenue

For more information: www.dal.ca/ioihfx; michael.butler@dal.ca; 902 494 1977

Organised by IOI-Canada in partnership with TBTI Global and Ocean Frontier Institute (OFI Module I), with support from the Bay of Fundy Ecosystem Partnership and Marine Affairs Program, Dalhousie University

